RIALTO THEATER FEATURED IN NEWSPAPER

Kurt J. Kolka interviewed George Stancil on April 20, 2017, and wrote a feature in the Crawford County Avalanche, "Stancil, Rialto part of Grayling's long history," in August 2017.

George Olsen purchased the Grayling Opera House 102 years ago. He is the grandfather of George Stancil, who is the son of Tommy and Georgianna Olsen Stancil who inherited the business. George Olsen's wife Leelah played piano to accompany silent films. For big motion pictures, the scores were performed by an orchestra. When the theater caught fire in 1930, George Olsen suffered burns saving the theater. It was repaired. George Stancil began working at the theater in 1956 when he was 8. In 1982, George bought the theater from his parents. A few years ago, George's son Jordan Stancil bought the Rialto. In recent years, the Rialto has been renovated and continues to be a vital part of the community as a movie theater. (Walter/Tommy)

GEORGE GUY STANCIL

George Guy is the son of Oscar and Allie and the grandson of Henry. Oscar had light hair and blue eyes. Guy had coal-black hair like his grandma Frances and blue eyes.

Guy was born Oct. 23, 1911, in Grandpa Henry's tenant house near Center Ridge Presbyterian Church in Johnston County, N.C.

Allie died of tuberculosis Feb. 8, 1920, and was buried in the Stancil Cemetery. Oscar died June 2, 1970, and was buried in Durham.

He had three sisters: Gladis, Gurnie and Ruth. Other siblings include Jim, Doc, Ruby and Jack.

Guy did farm work but did not like mules. As soon as he could, he joined the Coast Guard. He was assigned to the Army Coast Artillery Corps. They protected the Hawaiian coast.

Once in Hawaii, Guy met beautiful Frances Kanohola DeMello. She stole his heart. Servicemen needed permission to marry. They secretly wed and Guy was discharged.

The transit authority hired Guy. He was good looking, charming, hard-working and successful. This became his career.

He and Frances had three children: Ted, Doug and Kathleen.

George Branch cousin G.I. Stancil spent Thanksgiving and the night before the Pearl Harbor attack with Guy and family.

Guy visited North Carolina in 1945. Guy attended the 1967 and 1979 Stancil Reunions.

Guy died on Feb. 25, 1986. He had a traditional Hawaiian funeral.

J. G. AND DENISE VICK RENFROW

James Graydon Renfrow Jr., son of Graydon and Rachel Stancil Renfrow, was born in 1935. Graydon nicknamed him "Preacher Man," Uncle Harvey, "JIM GRAYDON."

He grew up on the Renfrow Homestead and farm.

After graduation, he joined the Marines. He served on the USS Champlain. After his honorable discharge, he entered Oglethorpe University. He became a salesman.

Mary Denise Vick was a neighborhood girl. J.G. returned home and found her pretty and all grown up. Denise studied home economics at UNCG. They dated and married March 22, 1964, in Springhill Presbyterian Church. J.G. was elected a Ruling Elder. Denise taught Sunday School, was active in the Presbytery and Synod.

In a few years, they remodeled the Renfrow Homestead. After 20 years with Coats & Clark, J.G. opened the successful Renfrow Insurance Agency in Kenly.

Denise opened two popular Fabric Stores. She volunteered for 4-H. She sold the stores.

She found a challenging position as assistant director/planner for Region L Council of Government; she ran the Workforce Development Programs for almost 20 years.

In 2014, Denise and J.G. celebrated their 50th anniversary at Springhill Presbyterian Church in Lucama, N.C.

Daughters Meredith, Katherine (Steve) and grandchildren Thomas, Rachel, Will, Abigail and Katrina live close and visit often.

J.G. is a member of the Kiwanis Club in Kenly, a 32nd Degree Mason and member of the Scottish Rite. He is an avid chess and hearts player and enjoys a good challenge.

For years, they stored Reunion memorabilia. The family will always be grateful for their dedication and love.

A Look Back

Originally printed in The Johnstonian-Sun, Selma, N.C., on Sept. 1, 1932:

The annual reunion of the descendants of the late J. T. Stancil was held at the old home site, now the home of G.I. Stancil, on last day, Aug. 26, 1932. This is one of the outstanding families of Beulah Township and their coming together is an event which was inaugurated by the late J.T. Stancil several years prior to his death, he having made the request that his children use this method of getting together once in each year to keep the home fires burning.

At the reunion last Friday were more than one hundred relatives. The dinner was a special feature of the day, spread beneath the spreading branches of the giant oak trees in the yard where men and women whose heads are ripening with the years of toil once played as bare-footed tots about their outgoing roots; but other children still romp with bare feet and gallant voices underneath their swaying branches.

An abundance of milk shake and lemonade had been prepared and all drank of these refreshing drinks at will. Family ties were renewed and tales of other days were indulged in to the delight of all.

made a very interesting talk and spoke for a time on the family history. His remarks were very interesting and warmly received. All of the six living children of the late J. T. Stancil were present, together with their families. The six children are: Henry, J. S., John A., A. R., H. A., and G. I. Stancil.

There were also present the following: Johnnie Stancil, of Aberdeen, N.C.; Henry Kirby and family, of Wilson; Delenda Kirby, of Wilson County; Elijah Scott, of Wilson County; Mrs. J. W. Downing, of Fremont, N.C.; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Rose, of Kenly; Mrs. Eliza Sasser, of Kenly, who is 91 years of age and in splendid health; Mrs. Tom Renfrow, of Wilson County; Harvey Atkinson and family, of Selma; Mr. H.B. Rains and family, of Princeton; Mr. Lemon Woodard, of Princeton; Mr. and Mrs. Bud Collins, of Duplin County; Mr. Willie Stancil, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Campbell and family, of Kenly; Mr. and Mrs. Levi Edwards, of Kenly; Mrs. Nancy Johnson, recently of Wilmington, N.C.; H.M. Beasley and J.I. Lee, of Smithfield.

It was regretted that other members of the family who were not present failed to take advantage of this delightful occasion.
